The Economy The middle of a W or the end of a V?

With America now officially out of recession are we on the upward end of the V scale or, as some economists predict, is Queensland merely in the middle of a W and looking at a double dip recession whilst the rest of Australia prospers?

Saul Eslake is back to give his annual frank assessment of our future operating environment, offering a studied economic forecast for Australia, Queensland and the development industry for 2010 and beyond.

Saul joined the newly-established Grattan Institute, a 'think-tank' affiliated with the University of Melbourne in August 2009, as Director of its Productivity Growth program, after 14 years as Chief Economist at ANZ. Saul is also currently a member of the Australian Government's National Housing Supply Council and had been a Director of the Australian Housing and Urban Research Institute between 1997 and 2005."

This is the event that will give you the information you need to approach 2010 with confidence.
